

Christmas Morn

(Words & Music by Ruth Dunfield)

It's Christmas morning in my old century home
I'm sitting here in this atmosphere of many Christmases gone by
And if this old house could talk to me now I wonder what it would say
Would it tell of all the wondrous times that were spent here on this day

Chorus

Were there children wide eyed and free - was there singing in harmony
Were there presents under the tree to warm every heart
But most of all I want to know - did they speak of long ago
When the Christ Child was born on Christmas morn

Each Christmas morning is a special time of year
It will always be spent with family like all the years gone by
And as we gather in this old house celebrating the first noel
We are filled with love and joy and peace singing carols we know so well

Chorus

There are children wide eyed and free - there's singing in harmony
There's presents under the tree to warm every heart
But most of all I want you to know - did they speak of long ago
When the Christ Child was born on Christmas morn

Bridge

There wouldn't be a Christmas morning without Bethlehem
There wouldn't be the spirit of giving without gifts from the wise men
And if those shepherds hadn't listened to what the angel said
Then how would we know of the blessed Child born in a manger lowly shed

Chorus

There are children wide eyed and free - there's singing in harmony
There's presents under the tree to warm every heart
But most of all I want you to know - did they speak of long ago
When the Christ Child was born on Christmas morning

© 1997 Ruth Dunfield (SOCAN)